

An aerial photograph of the medieval town of San Gimignano. The town is built on a hill, with its iconic towers (torrioni) rising above the terracotta-tiled roofs. The architecture is a mix of white-plastered buildings and stone structures. In the foreground, a large, light-colored building with a semi-circular tower and arched ground-floor openings is prominent. Several cars are parked in the square in front of it. The background shows a vast, flat landscape under a blue sky with scattered clouds.

DATA EMISSIONE	REDDATTO	DESCRIZIONE
07/09/2020	Arch. Cristiana Antonini Ing. Michele Bonfigli	Prima emissione