

Architectural elevation of the Palazzo del Comune in Palermo. The drawing shows the facade with its three levels: Piano Secondo, Piano Primo, and Piano Terra. The facade features a central section with a pediment and a side section with a large arched window. The ground floor is marked as Piano Seminterrato Primo.